Call for papers

About the Conference

The 7th Northeast Asian Development and Innovation Symposium (NADIS) will be held in Liaoning University (LNU) on June 26th (Friday), 2026. Since 2020, the conference has been successfully held for six sessions. The current conference is once again organized by Li Anmin Institute of Economic Research (LIER) at Liaoning University, co-organized by School of Economics and School of International Economics and International Relations. The conference will invite well-known experts, young scholars, and editors of core journals from both domestic and international arenas for paper evaluations. Selected papers will be published in a special issue of the "Journal of Asian Economics" or the "Digital Economy and Sustainable Development" journal, and discussions are anticipated with active participation from global economists.

Building on the solid foundation established by previous conferences, starting from this session, the focus of the conference will expand from the Northeast Asia region to the entire Asia-Pacific region and even globally. The 7th Northeast Asian Development and Innovation Symposium (NADIS) aims to facilitate high-quality research by scholars from various countries on regional integration and financial development in not only the Northeast Asia region but also the entire Asia-Pacific region. The conference seeks to enhance communication and collaboration among domestic and international scholars in related research fields.

Research topics

We welcome both theoretical and empirical research papers related but not limited to the following topics:

Special Issue Topics – Journal of Asian Economics:

1. Artificial intelligence and the future of work: Displacement, complementarity, and wage dynamics.
2. Automation, labor market polarization, and inequality.
3. Social protection systems in the face of demographic and technological disruption.

General Topics

1. Theory and Practice of Sustainable High-Quality Development of Chinese Modernization in the Digital Economy Era
2. Macro Development: Digital Economy, Green Trade, and Regional Development
3. Micro Development: Population, Education, and Labor in the Digital Transformation
4. Financial Development: Digital Finance, Green Finance, and Financial Innovation

Paper Review

This conference only accepts papers in English, and about 20 papers are selected according to the topic classification (the final submission is determined according to the number of contributions) for presentation. The final list of selected papers will be available by June 15th, 2026.

There is no registration fee. We will provide meals for all presenters. Participants should be responsible for their transportation and accommodation expenses. Welcome to contribute to and participate in the workshop.

Submission

Please submit the full paper to desd@lnu.edu.cn before June 8th, 2026 (CST - China Standard Time). In your email, please use “The 7th Northeast Asian Development and Innovation Symposium (NADIS) at LNU-LIER +presenter name” as the title, and please indicate whether you could attend the conference in person upon acceptance. The attached manuscript document should be named by “presenter name + the title of your paper”. In the first page of manuscript, please list all the authors and the contacting information (name, working place, duty and professional title, phone number, e-mail and so on). All manuscripts must be in English, original, and must not be previously published.

The follow-up of workshop and the list of accepted papers to the Journal of Asian Economics and the Digital Economy and Sustainable Development will be available online.
